

Are you ready to elevate your academic journey and stand out in your field? Join the

Journal Scholars Exchange

WHAT IS JSE?

It's a unique, two-month program offered multiple times throughout the academic year. Each cohort is crafted to help you build professional skills and enhance your presentation abilities in a supportive, mentored environment.

JSE is open to undergraduate students interested in survey and public opinion research, statistics, data science, or related fields.

FALL PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Thursday,
September
24

Hear from a panel of industry leaders sharing insights into their studies and current jobs while offering key takeaways. Next, participate in a unique reverse Q&A session, during which you'll join breakout rooms with panel members offering advice tailored to your interests.

Thursday,
October
22

Select an innovative article from the Journal of Survey Statistics and Methodology; present it to a mentor; and receive personalized, one-on-one feedback to help you refine your delivery and make your research shine.

WHY JOIN JSE?

Complimentary Student Membership

Join the American Statistical Association and American Association for Public Opinion Research and receive all the benefits of professional membership.

Professional Growth

Dive into tailored networking opportunities and engaging skill-building activities while hearing from established industry leaders.

Presentation Excellence

Master your presentation skills as you discuss cutting-edge scientific articles from the Journal of Survey Statistics and Methodology.

Supportive Community

Be part of a collaborative and encouraging network of peers and mentors dedicated to your success.

Apply Here